

Here are some guidelines for you to prepare your presentation well

- ✓ Font Type - Times New Roman (For English medium students)
- ✓ Font Type for Diacritical marks - Times_CSX+
- ✓ Font Type – FMAbhaya (for Sinhala Medium Students)
- ✓ Title Font – between 36 and 44 point
- ✓ Body Font – between 24 and 32 point
- ✓ Bold – makes the lines of the font thicker
- ✓ Underline – places a line under the word
- ✓ Italic – slants the tops of the letters of the font to the right
- ✓ Shadow – places a dark gray shadow of each letter behind the letter slightly to the right and slightly below the letter
- ✓ All Caps – this was an acceptable way to emphasize a word
- ✓ Word Art – this feature allows you to distort the letters of the font in a variety of Ways
- ✓ Highlighting – this may be the most effective way to emphasize words and is done by placing a colored rectangle behind the text box
- ✓ Bullet Points
Using bullet points on a slide is a great way to present the key ideas during a presentation
- ✓ Bullet Character – The most popular choices are a filled circle, filled square, open circle, hyphen and arrow
- ✓ Bullet Size – Try to select a bullet size slightly smaller than the font of the text so it does not overpower the text itself
- ✓ Bullet Spacing – make sure that there is sufficient space between the bullet and the first letter of the text so that the first word is readable perfectly well how to successfully develop and structure the components of your undergraduate dissertation:

Write a Good Research Proposal

A research proposal gives a reader an insight into how well a writer can prepare a written proposal. Therefore, it must be written well, including all of the information it needs to without going overboard; it needs to show the reader that the writer knows what they are doing, and that they are well prepared and knowledgeable in their subject.

To write a good research proposal, the writer must include the following things in their paper: title, abstract, introduction, literature review, methods, results, and a conclusion. Proper and thorough research ...

What is a Research Proposal?

A research proposal is a proposal used to convince others that you have a worthwhile research project and the competence and plans to complete it. The research proposal consists of all of the key elements that may be involved in the investigation and include all of the important information so that the readers can evaluate the proposed study. All research proposals must answer the questions of what the writer plans to accomplish, why they want to accomplish it, and how they are going to do it. The research proposal lets ...

Useful strategies to write well

In a competitive world such as ours, having the ability to write well is an advantage. In an era of communication, your writing skills will empower you to succeed. Students need effective writing skills in almost every aspect of their scholarly life.

Writing a Dissertation

As a dissertation is a proposal that university students must write, it is not always approached confidently. A dissertation allows a student to experience creating a topic, writing summaries, thinking in terms of methods and research, and concluding by solving their own problem statement. The dissertation itself allows readers to see what you, as the writer and student, went through to solve your problem.

When you writing a dissertation, it is important to know the needed components beforehand, so that you are prepared as you begin your research.

Dissertation Proposal Sample – Where Can I Find One?

Writing a dissertation proposal can be difficult and often tedious, so a helpful path to take is that of the already written dissertation proposal sample. You can get ideas of what should be included in your own dissertation proposal in regards to format and information. Through dissertation proposal samples, you can learn what is relevant and what is not in a dissertation proposal and the different ways that you can make your dissertation proposal a great one.

Dissertation Statement – Start of a Research

The dissertation statement of any writing assignment is the statement that lets the reader know what the topic of the paper is and how the writer intends to interpret it. It prepares the reader for how the writer will interpret the significance of the topic that they are discussing, while letting the body of the paper support their argument and their position regarding it. The thesis statement is at the beginning of the paper and is usually about one or two sentences long, and it briefly mentions the topic.

Methodology Chapter

The methodology chapter is that chapter that discusses the methods that you will use when doing the research and writing for your dissertation. This is one of the most vital parts of the dissertation as the methodology chapter allows the readers to see how you were able to prove – or disprove – your claim, and if the results are viable. It is important that this section of the dissertation is clear and detailed, providing all of the information that the reader could benefit from.

How to Come Up With Dissertation Ideas

Coming up with the topic for your dissertation is perhaps one of the more difficult tasks to undertake when you are doing your research paper. The first thing you need to consider when trying to figure out your topic is what knowledge that you know. Try to pick something that you are already comfortable with; not only will research be easier because you already know information on your topic, but you will be able to put your knowledge to some good use. You should make sure that the topic you ...

Dissertation Research Methods - What Procedures are Available

The methodology chapter of a dissertation paper is one of the most important sections as it shows the reader the steps you took to answer the question posed at the beginning of the paper. The hardest part, however, is deciding which methods are best for your paper and which ones can only hinder your research. What will decide your method of research is your subject matter.

Tips on How to Build a Thesis Statement

The thesis statement of any type of research paper – analytical, argumentative, and expository - is one of the most important parts of the paper, as it sets up the topic and the argument for the reader, and aids the writer by keeping them on track with their topic. The thesis statement must be able to sum up the whole of the paper in just one or two sentences, so it's important that the statement is detailed enough to prepare the reader for what is to come without exceeding ...

On Writing Qualitative Research

Research is “ideally, the careful, unbiased investigation of a problem, based insofar as possible, upon demonstrable facts and involving refined distinctions, interpretations, and usually some generalizations” Meanwhile, Crawford stated that research is simply a systematic and refined technique of thinking, employing specialized tools, instruments, and procedures in order to obtain a more adequate solution of a problem than would be possible under ordinary means. It starts with a problem, collects data or facts, analyzes these critically, and reaches decisions based on actual evidence. It involves original
